

NEW TERMINAL BUILDING

Tulsa Municipal Airport

Completed in October, 1961, at a total cost of $7,768,000, this beautiful, modern structure serves as regional headquarters for the five airlines serving Tulsa. It includes the latest known methods and devices for expediting the movement of passengers and cargo, having been designed for Tulsa's needs of 1970. While Tulsa ranks 51st in population of American cities, its Municipal Airport is 35th in the nation's aircraft operations.
